HOT NEWS

Jakarta(雅加達), on the island of Java(爪哇島), is home to many millions of people. It's the capital of Indonesia(印尼), and the country's largest city. It's not always an easy city to live and work in. So, Indonesian President Joko Widodo says he wants to move the capital somewhere else.

The city streets of Jakarta are often dirty. The city is poorly planned and has terrible traffic, not to speak of pollution. To make things worse, much of the city is sinking because of climate change and too much underground water pours out. As the ground gets lower, the buildings are in danger from the sea. President Widodo says the government will work better if its offices are somewhere else. So, he wrote a plan to build a new capital city on the island of Borneo(婆羅洲).

☹ capital 首都 poorly 貧乏地; 不足地 pollution 污染
climate change 氣候變遷 sink 下陷 government 政府 if 如果

44. Which is not one of the problems that Jakarta has?
- (A) The ground is getting lower.
 - (B) The environment there is not clean.
 - (C) It is too far from the water.
 - (D) There are too many cars.
45. What do we learn from the article about the new capital?
- (A) It will be on a different island from Jakarta.
 - (B) It will become the world's first city under the sea.
 - (C) Some government offices have already moved there.
 - (D) President Joko Widodo grew up there.
